Presidents Corner

As you can tell by looking outside, you can see we are at the tail end of our flying season. The leaves are almost off all the trees and the temperature is beginning to drop.

Several of us ventured out last Sunday morning. The weather was excellent. Clear skies and light winds. With only four of us there, we got a lot of flying in.

The Auction season is starting, so look at your equipment to see what you have to sell or would like to buy. Our auction is scheduled for November 6th at the Holiday Inn, Manitowoc.

The kitchen will be shut down shortly; so don't be surprised if you're looking for a soda or a hotdog. Take something along if you come to the field!!

I'm working on a few indoor planes to get ready for the indoor flying season.

Elections are coming up this month, so if you're interested in an office, come to the next meeting and let yourself be heard. There's always room for newcomers.

Stay safe and keep your wings level,

Scott D. Cordy ☺
