Vice President's Corner

From the desk of the vice president (recliner really!)

I went by the field last Saturday and was very surprised how dry it was! frost was still in the ground and will be coming out this week so the gate is double locked, but the field is very flyable. the door to the building is still stuck from heaving, when the wind dies down I plan on going out there! also it was nice to see more people attending the meeting. see you at the field!!! Jon McKenzie
